III. Conversation Practice

Practice the conversation with your teacher by doing a role play.

Steve: Joe, are you going home early today for Halloween?
Joe : Yes, I'll leave around 3pm. I take my kids trick-or-treating every year.
Steve: That's great. How many kids do you have?
Joe : I have three, two boys and one girl, ages ten, seven, and five.
Steve: They must love Halloween. Do they dress up in costumes?
Joe : Yes, they plan it out the whole year. They get very excited about it.
Steve: So, what are they going as?
Joe : The ten-year-old will go as Spiderman, the seven-year-old will be a pirate and my daughter will go as a fairy princess.
Steve: That's so cute. Do they come home with a lot of candy?
Joe : Yes, our neighbors are very generous and love having kids ring their doorbell for candy. The whole neighborhood comes out for it.
Steve: Do the adults get dressed up, too?
Joe : Sometimes they do. The costumes are really funny.
Steve: What about you? Do you wear a costume?
Joe : No, I don't. Maybe one day I will.
Steve: If you do wear one, then please take pictures. I want to see it.
Joe : <Ha Ha> OK, I will.

IV. Role-play

Have a meeting with your co-workers and plan your Halloween party.

Part 2

I. Introduction

II. Discussion

 Exercise A

Share your thoughts and answer the questions.

Your company is organizing a Halloween party. One of your colleagues suggested that all employees must wear a funny costume. Would you go against the suggestion? Why or why not?

You are walking going back home at 12 midnight and you feel that someone is following you. However, when you check to see, there's no one there. What would you do?

Everyone at the party is wearing nice and expensive costumes, while what you have on is simple and cheap. Would you change outfits immediately? Why or why not?

You are at home on Halloween when suddenly your co-workers ring your doorbell and want to get inside to celebrate Halloween. What would you do?

Your manager told you to organize a Halloween party at the office after everyone's work shift. How would you plan/organize it?

 Exercise B

Pick a number and answer the question that comes with it.

 Exercise C

Role-play

You are going to join a Halloween party with your friend. You haven't decided yet what costume to wear.

Talk to your friend and ask for some suggestions.
